Market Overview

The current crisis in the Middle East stands apart—not because it is the first conflict in the region, but because the physical chokepoint at the centre of global energy flows is directly impaired. The broad-based upward pressure across the energy complex, has clear implications for input costs and inflation dynamics. Despite superficial similarities to the 2022 European energy crisis, today's environment is meaningfully different. Global fiscal policy is expansionary rather than contractionary with steeper yield curves pre-war reflecting the same concerns. As a result, central banks can credibly maintain or even adopt more hawkish stances in response to rising oil. Unlike 2022, the rise in front-end yields is not irrational—rather, it reflects a combination of inflationary supply shocks and firm underlying demand.

EQUITY

Indian equities corrected sharply in March 2026 with the Nifty and the Sensex falling 11.3% and 11.5% respectively as the energy shock from the US-Israel- Iran conflict sent crude oil prices soaring beyond US$ 100/barrel. The correction was broad based with the Nifty Midcap 150 and the Nifty Smallcap 250 indexes declining 11.1% and 10% respectively. Sectorally, all sectors ended the month with losses with cyclicals such as Banks, Real Estate and Auto bearing bulk of the brunt. On the flip side, markets sought relative safety in Power, Healthcare and IT sectors (Exhibit 2).

The US- Israel- Iran war has led to a practical shutdown of the Strait of Hormuz which accounts for transport of a fifth of global oil and liquefied natural gas consumption leading to an energy shock. With the supply shock persisting for over five weeks now, it has led to fears of a 2022 Russia-Ukraine-style macro and earnings impact or even worse if this prolongs further. In this scenario, persistent high inflation readings could force central banks to tighten. Growth slows as household real incomes are squeezed and corporate margins weaken from higher input costs. Current accounts deteriorate across energy importing economies such as India, pressuring currencies. The India NSE volatility index has surged to high twenties reflecting these fears, and near levels last seen during the Russia-Ukraine crisis and the Trump-tariff shock (Exhibit 3)

These stagflationary fears have already led to a reversal in earnings revisions trajectory for corporate India (Exhibit 4). Earnings upgrades to downgrades ratio had been directionally heading higher up until Feb end, reflecting optimism on the economy, on back of several positives such as conclusion of trade deals, potential recovery in private sector capex, consumption tailwinds driven by GST and income tax cuts and lagged impact of monetary easing. A deflation in economy and recovery in corporate earnings had appeared to be the base case. FPI flows had turned positive in February reflecting this optimism. March, however, saw a rapid deterioration in earnings revisions with downgrades convincingly outpacing upgrades reflecting fears of a prolonged energy crisis. FPI flows dived southwards again (Exhibit 5).

However, amidst all the fear and gloom, the silver lining has been a decent moderation in valuations. Indian equities had been significantly underperforming Emerging Market peers for the past six quarters even before the current crisis (Exhibit 6). Sensex price to earnings multiple is now back to longer term averages while our preferred valuation gauge that measures earnings yield as a relative spread to bond yields has moderated further as equity declines more than offset the sharp increase in bond yields.

With largecap valuations now inexpensive, any moderation in energy prices could lead to a swift recovery (Exhibit 7 and 8). We believe that if the energy shock were to recede soon, on a potential agreement between US and Iran, earnings and macro impact could be transient and potentially already factored into equity prices with the recent market correction. On asset allocation, our model suggests early teens returns for Indian large cap indexes with relative preference still for large caps versus mid and small caps.

FIXED INCOME

Fy26 marked a period, wherein macro variables remained robust providing elbow room for growth supportive monetary and liquidity policy actions. While economic growth remained robust on a relative basis, with headline inflation projected around the midpoint target of 4%, liquidity actions were focused on ensuring transmission of policy rate cuts into the wider economy and to sustain and improve the momentum in growth. A benign forward inflation estimate enabled the central bank to conduct significant open market purchases apart from other durable liquidity infusion measures. While the fiscal year started with policy rate cuts, external events have come to the forefront in the recent months, constraining policy choices going ahead. The inherent conflicts within the policy framework and the multiple objectives under which the central bank operates have also been clearly apparent as the year closed. Over the last month, the markets have significantly retraced most of the rates transmission in the cycle, especially at the shorter end (Exhibit 9).

Recent market context

Operating an Independent Monetary Policy, Fixed exchange rate and an Open capital account is an impossible macro task as the central bank can at best control 2 of the 3 variables. Even as monetary policy remained anchored to domestic fundamentals, RBI has been deftly managing the other 2 corners of the Impossible Trinity, by having a semi managed exchange rate and largely open capital account, though with adequate controls. Within the constraints, the currency has been allowed to gradually adjust recently with most measures on REER probably showing undervaluation. However, the frictions within this framework were bound to eventually percolate into volatility and eventual resetting of financial market outcomes. Aside the above, the domestic liquidity operations have been hostage to requirements of enabling rate transmission as well as smooth management of government borrowings and banking system liability growth. This has at times over the last quarter led the RBI to deviate from the stated goal to align the overnight rates around the repo rate. Substantial liquidity infusions have broadly kept the collateralised rate below the SDF rate over the last quarter.

Over the last month of the fiscal, some of the inherent contradictions have come to the forefront as both the exchange rate and bond yields have reacted adversely in response to external triggers. Large scale open market operations including screen-based purchases had pegged the benchmark 10y yields around 6.7% for a while (Exhibit 10). The Middle East hostilities have led to a resetting in global yields as well as inflation expectations. Alongside, the RBI stepping off from G sec purchases once the large part of market borrowings was out of the way, bond yields were quick to reprice all along the curve. Similarly with continuing capital account outflows and possibly reasonable speculative positioning on the currency market, the rupee dollar exchange rate underwent rapid depreciation over the month of march, with feedback loop into liquidity and market rates.

Way Forward

Concerns on the capital account have been visible for a while, with net equity portfolio outflows as well as muted net FDI flows (Exhibit 11). All along, India's current account dynamics remained strong with modest trade deficits alongside robust net services sector surpluses and stable remittance flows. Events since the start of the Middle East conflict initiated by the United States, have essentially turned a capital account problem on the balance of payments into a wider current account as well as external sector problem.

Exhibit 11: India's balance of payments position has weakened materially due to near zero net FDI inflows

To the extent that the hostilities lead to supply disruptions as evident now and basis policy responses, India would need to confront the reality of elevated inflationary passthrough as well as fiscal stress. With more than 20% of the global supply of oil and gas disrupted, a prolonged blockade has impact on supply chains across a range of sectors. Effectively from a rates market perspective, one needs to confront the reality of incremental stress emerging on the current account as well as broader balance of payments, apart from the incremental worsening of both inflation and fiscal metrics.

Recent administrative measures to curtail open positions of authorised dealers on the Fx market should provide near term exchange rate stability. However, in the absence of material turnaround in the capital flow account, these may remain insufficient. At the same time, future inflation assessment would form the basis of comfort in maintaining excessive domestic liquidity. Incrementally, the ability to backstop the system through liquidity infusion may be curtailed. Even as demand supply dynamics in the sovereign market is expected to be better this fiscal as both pension and bank demand may improve, the overall balance remains skewed against demand in the absence of RBI support. Effectively the rates market may need to ascertain fair levels without a heavy-handed central bank presence.

We anticipate that the monetary policy stance should now move into a risk focused mode with the earlier guidance of "low for longer" being ill advised in the emerging realities driven by geopolitics. While the case for outright tightening of rates as in 2013 aren't justified, incremental actions more so on the liquidity front may switch back to maintaining adequate liquidity and not to keeping overall monetary conditions looser. Overnight settings are likely to revert to being aligned to the repo rate and with higher tolerance of operating between the repo and MSF.

From a market perspective, the anticipated easing at the shorter end of the money market curve has materialised even as the above 3m tenor remains elevated on likely fears surrounding policy rate actions. The action on the forex market have led to fears around potential interest rate defence action. This is unlikely in the near term. In the absence of near-term policy rate actions, we anticipate that these levels should ease a bit going forward. Long term yields would likely remain under pressure as the new fiscal year market borrowings start in a worsening external environment along with less likelihood of near-term support from the RBI. While the curve should flatten over the remaining part of the rate cycle, further uptick across the curve is clearly likely. This provides a case for maintaining a lighter duration positioning.

Benefits of Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) - SIP Performance

The Fund offers flexible and convenient Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) facility. To illustrate the advantages of SIP investments, this is how your investments would have grown if you had invested say 10,000 systematically on the first Business Day of every month over a period of time in the Respective Scheme by using XIRR approach. XIRR helps in calculating return on investments given an initial and final value and a series of cash inflows and outflows with the correct allowance for the time impact of the transactions. Data as on March 31, 2026.

1.Periodical SIP Performances (1Yr, 3Yrs, 5Yrs, 10 Yrs & 15 Yrs) are computed considering SIP Investment on 1st business day of every month.

2."Since Inception SIP" performance are computed considering 1st instalment on allotment date and thereafter on 1st business day of every subsequent month.

Benefits of Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) - SIP Performance

The Fund offers flexible and convenient Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) facility. To illustrate the advantages of SIP investments, this is how your investments would have grown if you had invested say 10,000 systematically on the first Business Day of every month over a period of time in the Respective Scheme by using XIRR approach. XIRR helps in calculating return on investments given an initial and final value and a series of cash inflows and outflows with the correct allowance for the time impact of the transactions. Data as on March 31, 2026.

1.Periodical SIP Performances (1Yr, 3Yrs, 5Yrs, 10 Yrs & 15 Yrs) are computed considering SIP Investment on 1st business day of every month.

2."Since Inception SIP" performance are computed considering 1st instalment on allotment date and thereafter on 1st business day of every subsequent month.

Benefits of Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) - SIP Performance

The Fund offers flexible and convenient Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) facility. To illustrate the advantages of SIP investments, this is how your investments would have grown if you had invested say 10,000 systematically on the first Business Day of every month over a period of time in the Respective Scheme by using XIRR approach. XIRR helps in calculating return on investments given an initial and final value and a series of cash inflows and outflows with the correct allowance for the time impact of the transactions. Data as on March 31, 2026.

1. Periodical SIP Performances (1Yr, 3Yrs, 5Yrs, 10 Yrs & 15 Yrs) are computed considering SIP Investment on 1st business day of every month.

2. "Since Inception SIP" performance are computed considering 1st instalment on allotment date and thereafter on 1st business day of every subsequent month.

Benefits of Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) - SIP Performance

The Fund offers flexible and convenient Systematic Investment Plan (SIP) facility. To illustrate the advantages of SIP investments, this is how your investments would have grown if you had invested say 10,000 systematically on the first Business Day of every month over a period of time in the Respective Scheme by using XIRR approach. XIRR helps in calculating return on investments given an initial and final value and a series of cash inflows and outflows with the correct allowance for the time impact of the transactions. Data as on March 31, 2026.

- 1.Periodical SIP Performances (1Yr, 3Yrs, 5Yrs, 10 Yrs & 15 Yrs) are computed considering SIP Investment on 1st business day of every month.
- 2."Since Inception SIP" performance are computed considering 1st instalment on allotment date and thereafter on 1st business day of every subsequent month.

HOW TO READ THE FACTSHEET?

Fund Manager: An employee of the asset management company such as a mutual fund or life insurer, who manages investments of the scheme. He is usually part of a larger team of fund managers and research analysts.

Application Amount for Fresh Subscription: This is the minimum investment amount for a new investor in a mutual fund scheme.

Minimum Additional Amount: This is the minimum investment amount for an existing investor in a mutual fund scheme.

SIP: SIP or systematic investment plan works on the principle of making periodic investments of a fixed sum. It works similar to a recurring bank deposit. For instance, an investor may opt for an SIP that invests ₹500 every 15th of the month in an equity fund for a period of three years.

NAV: The NAV or the net asset value is the total asset value per unit of the mutual fund after deducting all related and permissible expenses. The NAV is calculated at the end of every business day. It is the value at which the investor enters or exits the mutual fund.

Benchmark: A group of securities, usually a market index, whose performance is used as a standard or benchmark to measure investment performance of mutual funds, among other investments. Some typical benchmarks include the Nifty 50, BSE Sensex, BSE 200, BSE 500, 10-Year Gsec.

Entry Load: A mutual fund may have a sales charge or load at the time of entry and/or exit to compensate the distributor/agent. Entry load is charged at the time an investor purchases the units of a mutual fund. The entry load is added to the prevailing NAV at the time of investment. For instance, if the NAV is ₹100 and the entry load is 1%, the investor will enter the fund at ₹101.

Note: SEBI, vide circular dated June 30, 2009 has abolished entry load and mandated that the upfront commission to distributors will be paid by the investor directly to the distributor, based on his assessment of various factors including the service rendered by the distributor.

Exit Load: Exit load is charged at the time an investor redeems the units of a mutual fund. The exit load is deducted from the prevailing NAV at the time of redemption. For instance, if the NAV is ₹100 and the exit load is 1%, the redemption price would be ₹99 Per Unit.

AUM: AUM or assets under management refers to the recent / updated cumulative market value of investments managed by a mutual fund or any investment firm.

Holdings: The holdings or the portfolio is a mutual fund's latest or updated reported statement of investments/securities. These are usually displayed in terms of percentage to net assets or the rupee value or both. The objective is to give investors an idea of where their money is being invested by the fund manager.

Nature of Scheme: The investment objective and underlying investments determine the nature of the mutual fund scheme. For instance, a mutual fund that aims at generating capital appreciation by investing in stock markets is an equity fund or growth fund. Likewise, a mutual fund that aims at capital preservation by investing in debt markets is a debt fund or income fund. Each of these categories may have sub-categories.

Tracking Error: Measure that indicates how closely the portfolio return tracks the benchmark return. Tracking error is the standard deviation of the difference of returns between a portfolio and the benchmark over a specified holding period.

IDCW: IDCW stands for 'Income Distribution cum Capital Withdrawal option'. The amounts can be distributed out of investors' capital (Equalization Reserve), which is part of the sale price that represents realized gains.

Note: For details on IDCW, please refer notice cum addendum dated March 27, 2021. In line with SEBI Circular no. SEBI/HO/IMD/DF3/CIR/P/2020/194 dated October 05, 2020, nomenclature of Dividend plans / options has been rephrased w.e.f. April 01, 2021.
